on shore; The Master of the Am Mr. Charles Clark afterwards informed me, that when Duaterra was brought on Board the Am, that he was so naked and miserable that he refused to receive him unless the Master of the Santa Anna would supply him with a suit of Cloths, observing at the same time, that he was very sick. I was then in London, but did not know that Duaterra had arrived in the Santa Anna. - Shortly after Duaterra embarked at Gravesend, the Am sailed for Portsmouth, I had been ordered by Government to return to New South Wales by this Vessel, and joined her in a few days after she had come round to Portsmouth. When I embarked, Duaterra was confined below by sickness, so that I did not see him or know he was there, for some time. On my first observing him he was on the Forecastle, wrapped up in an old Great Coat very sick & weak, had a very violent Cough and discharged considerable quantities of Blood from his Mouth, His mind was much dejected and he appeared as if a few days would terminate his existence, I enquired of the Master where he had met with him, and also of Duaterra what had brought him to England, and how he came to be so wretched and miserable. He told me, that the hardness and wrongs he had endured on board the Santa Anna were exceedingly great and, that the English
