

I am as the Secretary of this Government the Censor of its Prefs, I do not think that it is in this stage of the business at all incumbent on me to attempt procuring him any friendly explanation to do away what I conceive to be his ill founded apprehensions or to relieve his feelings in regard to himself, and as under the exercise of my Judgment as Censor that letter was printed I feel it my duty to relieve the Printer from any possible responsibility consequent on its publication by having merely performed his duty on the occasion I having given it no official Imprimatur.

In drawing this letter to a Conclusion I beg to observe that His Excellency The Governor's residence being at present at Parramatta I had it not in my Power to submit the letter of Philo Lee to His Excellency Superior judgment and by this Means I was left without any Alternative but either to admit or reject it in toto; it not being within the province of a censor to expunge or alter any sentiments so committed to His perusal.

I have the Honor to be
Sir.
