

Mr. Ho. Kendall to Rev. Basil Woodd Harrow Road 23 January 1813

20 Jan. 21

1813

Rev. and Dear Sir,

J. M. Hocken.

In communicating any particular occurrences in my own private history, especially such as are calculated to shew the influence of Religion and religious principles upon my mind, I am aware that I ought solely to endeavour thereby to magnify and illustrate the exceeding great and tender mercies of God in Christ Jesus and to tell of His goodness only. I shall therefore, I trust, under this impression, and in compliance with your request proceed to relate some circumstances which under the direction of Divine Providence brought me under the sound of the Gospel, and led me to express a desire to use my feeble efforts in forwarding the views of the Society for Missions to Africa and the East in my endeavours to instruct, and point out the way of salvation to the Heathen World.

In many early religious impressions which were cultivated in my mind, I have been