in asking to bring these men, themselves should be murdered the Island of Arava where the men were left is quite desert and barren, and they were left without any means of procuring subsistence, not even a fish hook - The Brig arrived at Matavia Bay Tahiti on the 31st August, shortly after the Brig Endeavor of Sydney Cove Theodore Walker Master came along side, He was informed of the mutiny and distress of the Daphne in the course of the night the mutineers fired on the Endeavor the fire was returned and continued about two hours and a half, after it had ceased in the course of the night the mutineers quitted the ship, about day break Captain Walker made a signal and being informed by the Europeans that the mutineers were gone came on board with an armed party, upon searching Amile the Lascar who was very active in the mutiny was found, Captain Walker carried him on board the Endeavor where he was immediately hanged on the Yard Arm by Walkers order, and while hanging and yet alive a Pistol loaded with large shot was fired into his side - Sailed from thence to Limeo to repair and the crew begged Captain Walker to go back to relieve the eight men left at Arava, but he could not, the wind being contrary, from thence came to Port Jackson
