

Should an attempt be made to form an auxiliary society in New South Wales, I have no doubt, but several would join the lists, but I must apprise you that if a Committee composed of such men as were leaders of the New South Wales Society for the Protection of the Natives of the South Sea Islands (excepting two or three individuals) should get the management of our affairs, it is my firm belief, the parent society, would defeat its own object by the very plan it would pursue to promote it.

My letter of July last containing remarks on different occurrences and my letter to Mr. Myers by the same conveyance will render an enlarged account at present unnecessary. The letter to Mr. Myers by this conveyance is rather more correct than the former. You can make what use of it you please before you forward it to him.
