

all the rest of the Inhabitants swam for their lives and made their escape except nine women ^{being wounded} who, despairing of any mercy, cast themselves down upon the Beach and were seen at daylight, ^{but not killed} by the Sailors. The Sailors having already plundered and set fire to the Village and seeing the poor creatures abandoned. The Interpreter added that the Natives were now ready to make peace.
 Several of them ~~were~~ ^{upon this} came up and shook Captain Parker by the Hand. One of them offered to change Coats with him in a peculiar manner, and the Interpreter accompanied him on board his Ship, to whom he presented an axe and some other articles. The latter were much gratified with the above interview. The peaceable manner in which the Natives of Tappona ^{without any sudden burst of passion} represented their wrongs, and the readiness they ~~were~~ ^{manifested} to make peace, has confirmed our good opinion of their friendliness, and I have no doubt but it will be as truly gratifying to ~~my~~ ^{our} religious friends to observe them making such a rapid progress towards civilization. ~~Many~~ ^{Some} of some of the Chiefs have declared that they do not intend in future to do any work upon the Sabbath Day.
