amongst them for the above purpose.

January has been a very pleasant month. The atmosphere agreeably warm, with gentle breezes in the middle of the Day. The Natives have been busily employed in taking up their Potatoes and in conveying them to us and to the Vessels for Sale. Very little rain in three months past.

The Scholars commence their ^{Morning} lessons about sunrise and finish them at an early hour. The Children belonging to myself and colleagues are attended to in the middle part of the Day. In the afternoon the Native Children say their lessons again. They generally receive a handful of Potatoes each twice a day which they cook for themselves as they please —

(c) The natives generally rise at break of Day —

P.S. The prayers of the Church and a suitable Sermon are read by the Settlers alternately on every Lord's Day in the School House where as many Natives attend as please
