My dear Sir,

We duly received your letter, dated March 29/17, by Mr. Hapall.

The Bibles & Testaments, arrived, as we are happy to find, safely & very seasonably. We were much gratified in finding that an Auxiliary Bible Society had been established in New South Wales. We doubt not but that when there is a fair opportunity with a promise of success, something will also be done for the Church Missionary Society.

We grieve to hear of Mr. Marsden's heavy trials. Those who stand foremost in their Saviour's cause continually meet "with such contradiction of sinners." Our prayers are continually ascending that the work of God may prosper through you.

Your sensible & kind observations on Mr. Marsden's conduct & character much interested & gratified us. We deeply feel how much we owe ~~to~~ to the long continued zealous, patient, & persevering efforts of Mr. Marsden & his great disinterestedness. We are far from wishing that he should personally suffer pecuniary loss through them. We doubt not that God will enable us to defray every necessary expence to maintain & prosecute this Mission.

We are anxious also that good should be done among the Native New Hollanders as far as opportunity should offer & particularly by the education of the promising Natives.

We are, Dear Sir,

Ever affectly Yours,

(Signed) Josiah Pratt
