

general Expenses of the Society as far as concerns the Settlements what the Expenses of the Active will be more than her Returns I am not prepared to say at present — when she has been one whole year in the Service on the Coast of N. Zealand I shall then be better able to judge — nothing shall be wanting on my Part to keep the Expenses both of the Settlement & the Vessel. The Master of the Active is a very worthy man, and will do all he can — He is much esteemed both by the Settlers and the Natives — no Complaint having ever been made against him. I think from what I have now stated you will be able to form a more correct Idea of the State of the Settlers and Settlement — I wish to put you in Possession of every Information I can, which will enable you to determine what may be necessary to be Done — As the Journal from N. Zealand is
