

And on the 16th. Laid at anchor in the Downs the wind blowing very rough all the day

Sunday the 17th. The wind quite against us and blowing the same as the day past the wether would not admit of publick service Mrs Kent very poorly to day, but I trust the Lord will make all things work together for our good

On the 18th. The wind remain much the same Mrs Kent much the same imployed in writing with Gooi and Tetteree to there friends

On the 19th. The wind must the same; the enemy of mankind for some days past have been vexing my soul with fears and doubts but in vain for the Lord enabled me to look up and believe that greater is he that is for me than they that are against me

And on the 20th. The wind blowing quite against us and cannot move Mrs Kent is something better imployed in writing

On the 21st. Waiting for a fair wind in the Downs to Day we began School with Gooi and Tetteree Mr Hall and myself began at 9 in the Morning, till a lewin O'clock: in the Afternoon 2 hours: the rest of the Day in writing and reading Mrs Kent must the same

And on the 22nd. The wind must the same attended School with Mr Hall and the two Natives We humbly pray the Lord to give a blessing to all the means that are made use of, in trying to learn them to read that word of God, which alone is able (when applyed by the holy spirit) to make them wise unto Salvation.

On the 23rd. The wind the Night past blew very hard but quite against us so that we remain in the same place We enjoy the Privelage in meeting together Morning and evening for Prayers and find it a grate Blessing to our souls
