 On the 26th, Sailing with a fair wind our course is S.E.E. employed in School Mrs Grooms milled My soul was rejoiced with that portion of scripture which saith he will keep us as the apple of his eye for the Lord's portion his people

And on the 27th The wind much the same employed today as usual my soul to Day rejoiced in looking forward when all the Kingdoms of this world should become the Kingdoms of our Lord's and of his Christ and he should reign for ever and ever

On the 28th, Not so much wind. This Day the Lord was pleased to call one of the convicts away by Death and his Body was committed to the Deep the next Morning Mr Butler generally visits the sick twice in the Day but he cannot say that he says any godly sorrow for sin as the tree falls so it lies

Employed as usual
 And on the 29th, Sailing with a fair wind employed in School and we spent one hour in the Day in learning some new Zealand words

On the 30th, But little wind employed as usual Peter do not get on so well in his reading he cannot give his mind to it but we trust he will be more attentive when he get more settled The Lord give them that desire

May the 1st. The wind much the same employed in School

Sunday the 2nd Sailing with a fair wind We had Service on Deck Mr Butler read the Prayer and Mr Grop read a sermon from the 6th ch. of Mark and the 36th ver the subject was the value of immortal souls considering the price that was paid for them the reference was the 8th of the first Peter 18 we were not redeemed with corruptible things as silver or gold but with the Precious Blood of the Lamb. In the evening Mr Butler and Mr Grop administered the holy Sacrament in Mr Hall's Cabin to eight I trust that this Pledge of Dying love has refreshed and strengthened my soul in the Belief that I shall drink it new with him in his fathers Kingdom.
