Dear Friend Tetterree

Your Letter of the 12th of July reached us at the beginning of this month; and it made us glad to learn that you had reached New South Wales in health & safety. Thus has God graciously preserved you, through two long voyages & many dangers.

We have often thought of you, since you left us; praying that God would make you a partaker of His grace & Holy Spirit: but the accounts which we have received of what took place on the voyage, have given us pain, and disappointed our expectations. We fear that the wicked men who sailed with you have done you harm. Do you think that their conduct & conversation did your heart good? Do you find the same desire to pray, & the same ~~pleasure~~ pleasure in listening to those friends who talk with you about God and Jesus Christ and the Salvation of your soul, as you did in England?

In writing to Mr. Bickersteth, just before you left us, Dec. 14/18 you say, Englishman's God & Englishman's Bible all true. I should like read the Bible about Jesus Christ. I pray Jesus every night teach me read the Book. I hope Jesus will go along with me. When I get home my own Country, I pray for Englishman and Englishman pray for me."

Are these still your thoughts & feelings, Tetterree? If not, why are they changed? Englishman's God & Englishman's Bible are the same. The disposition of our friends to shew you kindness & to do you good, are the same — your need of a Saviour the same — the certainty of your perishing in your sins, if you neglect the salvation of the Gospel, the same.

You must shortly die, & stand before the Judgment Seat of Christ: and what will you say? You cannot tell God that you never knew any thing concerning Him — that you never heard of the way of salvation. Have compassion then, Dear Tetterree, on your own soul; & fly from the company of wicked men, who draw away your heart from God.

Has it not made your heart sorry, that you treated your good friends Mr. Butler & Mr. Hall with unkindness, & opposed their
