

Attendance for some time past - They are both very pious and amiable young people, and their hearts are set upon the work. I thought it more prudent for Mr. Clark to remain here until I had seen Mr. Kendall also, who told me, that he was coming out to make guns for Thompson.

---

I shall take the earliest opportunity to inform you of the state of affairs after my arrival in N. Scotland. As my thoughtless son has only just come, I shall not be able previous to my sailing to settle with Mr. Good, and the Society his accounts - will thank you to inform me by the first conveyance what I am indebted to the Society, and I will settle the balance with you - This is almost too painful a subject for me to dwell upon - We Lord suffers his people to be tried - and I have my share - but I cannot say with St. Paul, that I glory in tribulations also - The misconduct of the missionaries has given me much pain; but God will overcome this for his glory in the end - N. Scotland will be subdued by the powerful word of truth