in all their labours. I have no doubt Sir, but as many of us as have sown in tears shall finally reap in joy.

I am Sir
Your humble Servant

Pres^d Saml Marsden.

P.S. I hope time will alter the determination of the Society respecting me, if not it is my wish to return to England, except I could serve the Society better at Port Jackson

Pres^d Sir.

You have asked me the question "Whether an attempt ought not now to be made to instruct the Native Children, and whether there is any probability of success?" I will freely state to you my opinion as to the order of proceeding which would be most likely under the Divine
