Rev. Saml Marsden

Rev. Sir,

I have long since made an open confession of my sins before God and have magnified them before Men, regarding as I have done the public situation which I held in this Mission, and my duty] to God and the Society.

I have been free and open in the acknowledgement of them not only on my own account, but on account of some others, who are, or have been united with the Mission, and have fallen into gross sins of the same, or of a different nature, and who I hope have repented with me.

I hope Sir you will consider the perilous situation of the Mission before you suffer the mode recommended in the instructions of the Society to the Rev. Mr. Butler and friends in future to be lost sight of.
