

earnestly in future to retrace your steps and regain the ground you have lost. Let the very remembrance of all past differences and injuries be buried in everlasting oblivion and study to live in unity and Godly love. Satan will not then be able to gain such advantage over you as he hath hitherto done forget not the assembling of yourself together when you do this, you lay yourselves open to all the assaults of Satan because you then stand alone and are easily overcome

If you love one another agreeable to our Blessed Lords Commandment then you will delight in each others company. You will imitate the example of those who in former times often met together and of whom such honorable mention is made by the Prophet You will then prosper in your own souls and God will give his blessing to your labours and you will see a seed springing up to serve him when you are called to receive your eternal reward

Before I conclude let me warn you of what you must expect, if any of you in future disgrace the Mission by immoral conduct or by neglecting to do the duties
