

concerning the excessive haste of any man to get rid of me out of this Island. The men whoever they may be who may think they have swallowed me up, have not yet begun their imaginary feast. Nor need any one be much delighted or encouraged with the idea of sending me away while the Ship Brampton lies a wreck almost in sight of my own door. If you wish to see me on account of the Book I am writing I will pledge my word not to be in a passion. I have some more pages ready. Capt. Moore will deliver to you 28 Pages

The above letter has by mistake been copied in a wrong place, it was written in answer to mine of the 8th of Oct^r copied in Mr. Kendall's Letters. See first series of copies of letters p. 27-34

I am Bro^r Sir
Your obed^t Servant
Tho^s Kendall

Oct^r 22 1822

Bro^r Sir

I will thank you to consult with Mr William Buckley, who is appointed to build Mr Sam^l Butcher's house, and afterwards to state what materials are already prepared for the building such as singles, boards, scantling, and other timber and what more will be wanted