My dear Sir

Ack. Nov. 19/23. I am perturbedly requested by Mrs Clarke to write to you, respecting a Pious Man, who wishes to be useful in the Missionary cause. The Man's Name is Cobb. He was living with Mr Redgrave of Rednal, when we left England, and was a Member of Mr Thos. Fishers Chapel, of Hoxeston. According to the description of Character given him by Mrs C - he is just such a Man as Mr Morrison wants for New New Zealand, as he thoroughly understands Agriculture and the Management of Cattle. - If he is still disposed to be useful in the above mentioned way, we have seen an opening for him; but let Mr Cobb fully understand that he would be employed in teaching the natives Agriculture, and he would also have to take care of the Missionaries Cattle. - If Mr Cobb be still single it would be advisable, and might add to his sphere of usefulness to get married before he comes out; but, let him be careful that he be not unequally yoked,
