

at the moment. - If they could, for the fraud and cruelty before stated, the Abolitionist told me it was not possible to restrain the people from firing upon the boats. - The chief spoke with great warmth and indignation at the treatment he had received. - I assured them that both King George and Governor Macquarie would punish any act of fraud or cruelty committed by the Europeans, whenever the proper information was given..

I then gave them Governor Macquarie's instructions to Masters of vessels, and explained the nature of them, which was clearly understood by the Abolitionist who explained it to the rest. - I told them that the 'Active' would occasionally visit them and by that means they might easily obtain redress from the Governor of New South Wales, and requested them never to commit any act of violence upon Europeans in future, but refer their complaints to Governor Macquarie. - They seemed much pleased and promised they would not injure the crews of ships that might touch there. - I also informed them that the Masters of the 'King George' and 'Jefferson' would be called upon to answer for their conduct, when they came to Port Jackson, as I should inform
