and Rose Rose were on the voyerod with three Nov

21 Hundred men - Their minds were now once more at <sup>care</sup> ease, and we pushed on as fast as we could and in the evening got about five miles of the heads of Shoku Hanga where we took up our night's Lodgings with a Chief belonging Turanakha who had gone to pay a visit on the west side of the Islands a long

Nov distance from Shoku Hanga -

8th. We rose early this morning for Shoku-Hanga where we shortly arrived, when I last visited Shoku Hanga, the Head Chiefs son, his Brother son and some other men of consequence were gone to the Southward upon a war expedition along with another Chief named [Patuone]

Patuone who was the head of the expedition

He had now returned and informed me that they had crossed Cook's Straits and landed on the Middle Island - In this Expedition Mowerra and his Brother had both their sons killed - On my arrival I was first conducted to two of the Chief Women who were in deep distress - One was Mowerra's daughter
