by some Europeans since the vessels had been at New Zealand - her distressed Mother looked upon <sup>her</sup> daughter shewed me the state she was in, and asked if my God had not thus afflicted her daughter for she could not account for her miserable state. On this occasion I felt much pain in beholding the sad effects of Sin, and that man born in a Christiana country in stead of mitigating should increase the miseries of the poor ignorant Heathens, I am fully convinced if the Gospel is introduced into New Zealand which is the only remedy for the evils that Sin hath introduced amongst them into the world - The prevailing views of the civilized world will find their way at the same time, and greatly add to the calamities which the Heathens labour under - This is a painful Reflection what an awful scene will be opened when God shall bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and under to every man ac-cording to his works, yet that Day will surely come - The scene before me called forth many reflections On enquiry after Mowerra I was informed he would be with me in a short time when he arrived, he was much gratified with my visit to him again his
