That Man whose heart is full of Lust, Pride, & Envy -

Oct 30

30 - It was my intention to have returned to Huddell Huddell to-day, but could not on account of the stormy weather, I therefore spent the day with the Rev^d J. Williams - I am at a loss what to do with the Rev^d J. Butler. He cannot remain in the Mission unless he proves his innocence. - I have ever been persuaded, since he landed in Newland, that he is a Man totally unqualified for the work. His violent temper carries him beyond the bounds of decency, and not only endangers his own life, but the lives of his colleagues. He never will alter his conduct, his habits are fixed, and humanly speaking ^{will} never be eradicated -

Part V

Rev. J. Marsden's Journal

How happy shall I be to see the day when the Missionaries here live like brethren, and constrain the Heathens to say "see how these Christians love" at present, ^{I hear} little from the Natives but complaints against the Missionaries for their quarrels and disputes one with another. This has a very bad effect upon their minds, and they repeatedly speak of it to me - Friday ^{at} 31. Today I left Pyhka, and returned to Huddell Huddell - when I communicated to the Rev^d J. Butler the information I received relative to his conduct on board the Brig Dragon - He denied the charge I recommended him if guilty, quietly to retire from the Mission. However he demanded an investigation which I told him should be granted - From the whole of the circumstances as related to me I have no doubt of the extreme
