

fall into Sin, and covers them with shame to humble their pride, and to subdue their evil passions. Should divine goodness bless this awful event to his soul, he may become a New Man - I hope Mr B will be the last, who will disgrace the Africa.

There has been vast sums of Money expended on, or by the Rev^d Butler, which have not as yet turned to much account. He has laboured hard in his own way, but unfortunately not for the honour and general good of the Africa.

His conduct to his colleagues have been very discouraging and distressing to them. His removal from F. Island will be a great relief to the minds of those who are heartily engaged in the work -

^{Nov 7} I left Pyba for Fuddes Noode with an intention to return the following morning in order to be ready to embark. On my arrival I found it would be necessary to settle many unpleasant circumstances that had occurred lately, before I took my final leave of Fuddes Noode. Shungee and all the Chiefs with most of the Inhabitants were gone to the River Gambier in order to remove the bones of four of their Relatives to the family sepulchre. This is a very great religious Ceremony - The people assemble from all parts on such occasions - The funeral orations are spoken, when all the great deeds the deceased have done, and the virtues they possess are recited. If my time would have permitted I wished much to have seen the funerals - Shungees Mother was one, his Son in law who had been killed in
