

our boat swampt

Page

we had the misfortune to have our boat alongside the brig, and lost our boat

Fri. 8th This morning I visited the [Name] had some conversation with him re his unhappy situation - I thought to prepare his mind a little, before I show him the Lady's Letter and the containing the order for his Dismissal

He was considerably agitated at our first I felt much both for him and his name

He appears to have been wholly under the of insupportable Lusts Pride & Passions with all their attendant evils - I am convinced that he never will recover himself out of the power of the Devil while he remains in New Zealand but will be lost to himself, his Family & Society and that there is no safety or comfort for him in his Family, but in his removal from the Island - At present he seems determined not to leave N. Zealand - he told me he had the means of living within himself, and he was resolved to remain - I did not think it prudent to argue much with him on the subject at this time as I should have other opportunities to speak to him, when he would be more cool, I therefore left him and returned on board the sloop with Mr. Williams - on my arrival I found the Rev. Mr. Linnar had returned from Wanganui - He brought me a letter written by the painful

duty

John or branches