which it had determined to adopt on the credit of an adviser so intelligent and experienced as Mr. Mardden, in the hope, or at least expectati-on, that the Missionary's Vessel would be adequate to the objects in view, it may probably resume its intention, and proceed to the carrying into execution of the measure recommended by Mr. Mardden.
I am grieved, I own, to reflect that we are losing
