new wheat into flour, - And that too by the most simple and easy process, - I have ventured to suggest to the Church Missionary Society, through you, that in the next investment of tools and other necessaries, ~~sent by~~ which may be made by the Society for the Inhabitants of New Zealand a small stone Hand Mill such as was anciently and is still in use among the Inhabitants of Syria, would be a most acceptable addition. - The same sort of Mill is still in use among the Islanders of the Western Islands ~~of the~~ and if I may take it is mentioned ^{& described} by Mr Pennant in his Tour to the Hebrides. - The form of it as well as I can recollect (for I have not the description
