

I did promise to send you some reports, perhaps I may have a more favourable opportunity, by a day; or if I can send you a few by this I will do it. There is a man of the name of Leger gone from here as Delegates, from the "emancipated Colonists" - i.e. from the Convicts who have received unconditional pardons. Should you hear of his endeavouring to ingratiate himself into the favour of any of your friends, w^{ch} might be the case from a desire to know anything about ^{perhaps you will think in confidence} this Colony; He has contrived either to see rich, or to be thought so, in a very short time. and if we can judge ^{of} his effort to cheat King Pomare, he will not be very nice in the means he uses to accomplish his objects. He is a man of ability, & learning. Very soft spoken: can preach, pray & speechify! You will most likely hear of his attempt on King Pomare. I should think this the London Missionary Socy.

his game will be sound abroad. The profit he charged was only 200 @ 300 p^{ct} and a commission of 5 p^{ct} on the whole. Mr. Madden was obliged to step in between the King, & this religious harpy. By w^{ch} he recovered from him £1200 - but could not prevent him having that enormous profit. It is in these acts, that he necessarily increases his enemies. Leger is, I believe, at the head of Methodist ^{auxiliary} Missionary Socy. His colleague, or ^{as delegate} named Redfern, a man of considerable professional skill as a Surgeon. He was a Surgeon in the Navy, & sent here for the Mission at if Mar.

Pray remember us kindly to all enquiring friends, Mrs. Hill joins me in Love to you all - and believe to be Yours very affectionately

Redfern was the Governor's Medical Attendant
 Leger has never been introduced at Government House, but must be a great favorite for his enmity to Mr. Madden
