

Mr. W. G. told me, that Mr. Kendall wanted the natives to destroy his Premises, but they refused to do this. After Mr. Kendall was suspended, Mr. Butler was requested to preach occasionally at Kangukoo, but from the threats of Mr.
Kendall, he was often afraid to go - on one occasion when Mr. Butler went to administer the Sacrament at the time Mr. Kendall was living in open adultery, Mr. Kendall went to the Sacrament, and Mr. Butler durst not refuse to administer it to him - when he had received the Sacrament, Mr. Kendall told the natives, what offence Mr. Butler had committed in administering the Sacrament to him, and that he ought to be deprived of his Governor. This was done to lower Mr. B. in the opinion of the natives - I am surprised at the good sense which the natives have shown in not interfering with the quarrels of the missionaries; and that Mr. Kendall has not been able with all the influence and means he has possessed to excite the natives to any act of violence against his colleagues. The Family of the Chief, whose daughter Mr. Kendall took, and whom he supported with every thing, have been a little troublesome, because they cannot now obtain what they wish from the Society's stores; as they are not in Mr. Kendall's possession; yet they have committed no act of violence. The Chief and his Family complained to me
