

he remove to hidden Kiddee. he would be quite secluded from the shipping.

About the same time that Mr Marsden learnt Mr Kendalls determination of not going to the Colony - he was informed by Captain Moore of the late ship Brampton and Walker of the Brig Dragon. That Mr Butler had been in a state of insubordination on board the Dragon on the 27th of last month - and his language having been very high and insulting to Mr Marsden several times - and some complaints coming against him from the Chiefs in his neighbourhood - of his rough conduct - and of his striking some of the Natives - Mr Marsden was resolved to take him & his son with their wives to Port Jackson. Mr Butler demanded an inquiry upon the charge of the Captains it was entered into and must to his dishonor as will appear in the proceedings - he therefore with his son their wives & Mr & Mrs Cowde are expected to sail in the course of two or three days - with Mr Marsden Mr & Mrs Leigh & Mr White Wesleyan Missionaries -

Upon looking at the latter changes we view them as mysterious - Mr Marsden had concluded his communication with us and was embarked with Mr Kendale and family - and without any reasonable cause - for the loss of the ship is very remarkable - and with common prudence might not have occurred - was cast amongst us again - as tho' his work was not accomplished - such is the importance we consider the removal of Mr B and his son - haughty overbearing - boisterous - & unguarded in his language - it is marvelous how the Mission has held so long as it has -

Amidst all this I cannot close without saying a few words respecting Mr Kemp. when I consider - what he must have had to endure - yet not from the Natives. I exceedingly wonder at the mildness of his conduct & Christian
